whole question. What is needed is not to make good government more possible of attainment. That cannot be done. We have the fullest opportunity any system could give us to make Edmonton a well-governed city. If improvement is to be made in our present system, it must be in the direcsystem, it must be in the direc-tion of making bad government less possible—not good govern-ment more possible dood city government has not come to the world in any accidental or mira-dius way; nor has it been accom-plished by the adoption of vision-ary theories. It is the product of human thought and effort, and most of the human beings who human thought and effort, and most of the human beings who have a hand in the governing are of an essentially practical type-some of them a good deal move so than they ought to be. Safe progress in government must be made, not by experimentation based on the false assumption that all persons want competent and honest government, but by st government, establishment of additions the establishment of additional sefeguards against incompetent or corrupt government—which the present year has abundantly shown that some persons in Educatablish. Unless it can be shown that under the elective commissioner system it would be less practically possible for these perverted but very real individuals to set and keep control of the eity's cat and keep control of the eity's verted but very real individuals to get and keep control of the city's affairs than they have found it under the present system, there is no basis of theory even for the change. That cannot be shown, for it is not a fact. If it were a few some of those who are now shouting for the change would no

A Swedish diplomat says: "If A swedish diplomat says: "If "the Germans have to leave the "Belgian capital, they will blow "up everything before they go." Themselves included, it will be hoped.

It would seem reasonable to It would seem reasonable to think that there should be a not-iceable difference between the conduct of a company of univer-sity students and that of a band of Bashi-Bazouks. But there

If Canada had placed that pro-posed squadron of modern heav-ily-armed cruisers in the Pacific he situation today would be dif the situation today would be dif-ferent in one of two ways. These vessels might have been with Craddock on Sunday evening of the coast of Chili, when their pres-ence would have given him the advantage, and instead of lament-ing a defeat we would be cele-brating a victory. Otherwise the cruisers would now be guarding our coast cities and commerce craises would now be guarding our coast cities and commerce against the victorious enemy. Let us not deceive ourselves.
